

infrasound data portal

In the context of the ARISE research infrastructure project, an infrasound data portal has been developed. The portal will provide access to raw infrasound data from European stations as well as advanced data products that are useful for civil applications and the study of atmospheric structure using infrasound data. In this presentation, the current features and future developments of the portal are discussed.

Primary author: ASSINK, Jelle D. (KNMI - Royal Netherlands Meteorological Institute)

Presenter: ASSINK, Jelle D. (KNMI - Royal Netherlands Meteorological Institute)

Track Classification: 5. Analysis of Infrasound Sources and Scientific Applications of Infrasound