National Nuclear Security Support Centre, Technical University of Moldova

P5.3-782

- Our poster highlights the 10 years of activity of the National Nuclear Security Support Center at the Technical University of Moldova and its contributions through education to non-proliferation, disarmament, and nuclear security.
- The most significant outcome of our work is the contribution to building a new generation of professionals who are aware of the importance of promoting the non-proliferation of nuclear weapons, the definitive ban on nuclear testing, and ensuring the security of nuclear technologies.
- Our results consist of the integration of two new courses into the master's degree program, the publication of textbooks and practical guides, and updating the curricula every two years to reflect new topics, such as the role and objectives of the CTBT, cyber risks, and the ethics of non-proliferation research.
